forumZFD is an International NonGovernmental Organisation (NGO), established in 1996. We are working in the field of conflict transformation in eleven countries in Europe, the Middle East and South East Asia. The Cambodia program opened its offices in Phnom Penh in 2015 and in Battambang City in 2016.

Our mission

Fields of action for our work in Cambodia mainly revolve around the areas of Dealing with the Past, facilitation of dialogue processes as well as dissemination of methods of civil conflict transformation, conflict sensitivity and peace building in a post-conflict society. We also focus on capacity building which will contribute to achieving the goal and objective.

Our partners

With the support of qualified Cambodian and international staff, we are currently developing our program in Cambodia by establishing partnerships with local NGOs, universities, agencies, ethnic and religious minorities and youth initiatives.

Projects for a sustainable and peaceful future

Our projects

We believe that in order to have a sustainable peaceful future, it is important for all Cambodians to know about their own pasts and learn from it. That is why we want to support diverse communities of the Cambodian society to deal with their history. To build trust and good relationships between communities it is important to foster understanding and respect for different experiences, traditions and cultures.

The Peace Education Project

The Peace Education Project works with partner institutions to improve their knowledge and skills in the context of conflict transformation. We want to support the Battambang community in being able to analyze local conflicts and reflect on their behaviour and attitudes to reduce stereotypes and discrimination.

Together with our partner Preah Sihanouk Raja Buddhist University, Battambang Branch (SBUBB), we develop and implement short courses on conflict transformation. We educate trainers to teach and share their learned skills and knowledge with students and the community.

The Narrative Project

The Narrative Project wants to encourage people in reflecting on their individual and collective narratives.

To increase trust and strengthen relationships between communities it is important to foster understanding and respect for different experiences, traditions and cultures.

The Narrative Project wants to give people a voice and prevent prejudice and stereotypes through dialogue.

The Young Generation Project

The project wants to enable young people in their contribution to a harmonious community.

forumZFD and partners provide activities, workshops and trainings for young people to understand the importance of remaining peace. The young participants use their gained knowledge to educate others in their role as responsible individuals. We believe that supporting the young generation will contribute positively to the community.
